

American Coal: Annual Spring Magazine with Membership Directory and Fall Magazine with Buyers' Guide

American Coal, the American Coal Council's (ACC) Spring Magazine with Membership Directory and Fall Magazine with Buyers' Guide, are distributed to over 4,500 industry executives, government representatives, academics / researchers, and community leaders with an interest in the coal industry.

Continuing the established tradition of excellence, each edition, from the inaugural (2003) edition to the latest (Fall 2007) edition has been praised for its strong editorial content on critical coal, energy and environmental issues.

The high-quality, four-color magazine serves as a showcase piece for our Association and our members, and helps us promote coal as an economic, abundant and environmentally sound fuel source.

We invite your support for the upcoming edition on two fronts – editorial contributions and advertising. Please indicate below if you are interested in contributing an editorial feature and/or advertising in the magazine.

Thank you for your continued support of the American Coal Council; we look forward to working with you on American Coal.
